A Curious Note by Chancellor Kent.

The American Law Review publishes a curious note in the handwriting of Chancellor Kent in a copy of Story on the Constitution, belonging to Chancellor's library, which has recently been sold in Boston. The note is frank and suggestive:

March 13, 1835.—Judge Story called on me at my office in New York. He said that he should write and publish a volume of Commentaries a year, until he had published twelve volumes. The one now forthcoming is on English and American Equity Law, and the one after that will be on Practice and Pleadings in Equity. The two last will (1) treat on Natural and public Law, and (2) on the Principles of International Law as Adopted to Modern Society. His greatest authorities on the Science of Government, as he thinks, are Aristotle, Cicero and Burke. In a French translation of Aristotle on Politics he found that Aristotle treated of Representative Government of the People, and said it would not do, and never could do, because the people never could be brought for any length of time to choose the most wise and virtuous men to govern them. Whoever reads "Cicero de Republica" would see the evils of democracy as they are and always will be. He says that Hamilton was the greatest and wisest man in the country. He saw fifty years ahead, and what he saw is fact now. Next to him in wisdom and sense, intuitive rectitude and truth and judgment is Chief Justice Marshall.

He says that all sensible men at Washington, in private conversation, admit that the government is deplorably weak, factious and corrupt. That everything is sinking down into despotism, under the guise of Democratic government. He says the Supreme Court is sinking, and so is the Judicial of every State. We began with first-class men for judicial trusts, and we have now got down to third-rate. In twenty-five years there will not be a judge in the United States who will not be made elective, and for short periods, and on slender salaries. Our constitutions were all framed for man as he should be, and not for man as he is and ever will be. The Senate of the United States are discouraged. There are twenty men in that Senate, who are as wise and patriotic as any sages of the Roman Senate, and last year brought the constitution against the President and his collared House of Representatives, and yet public opinion remains unmoved, and not shaken, and equally devoted to tyranny and corruption. If the Senate had let the administration go on this last winter, we should have had war most certainly. The government meant to issue letters of reprisal, and that in modern times is war. Indeed, the cause of this country, and the cause of popular representative government, according to liberty and justice and wisdom, is, as Hamilton suspected and rather believed it to be, a mere ignus fatuus, or dream of the imagination. He says Chief Justice Marshall has finally come over to the opinion that the appointing power includes the power of removal, and that the President ought not, and has not, according to the Constitution, the power himself."

Presidential Prospects.

[From the New York Tribune, Jan 24]

We have heard it remarked that, should the elections of 1872 copy those of 1870, a Democrat would be chosen President. But that is a miscalculation, as the following table will show:

Rep States	Electors.	Dem States	Electors
Maine........	6	Connecticut........	6
M[illegible]husetts........	12	New York........	31
New Hampshire........	4	Delaware........	3
Rhode Island........	3	Maryland........	7
Vermont........	4	Virginia........	10
New J[illegible]rsey........	8	North Carolina........	9
Pennsylvania........	25	Georgia........	10
South Carolina........	6	Alabama........	9
Mississippi........	8	West Virginia........	5
Louisiana........	7	Kentucky........	10
Florida........	3	Tennessee........	9
Texas........	7	Indiana........	13
Ohio........	20	Nevada........	3
Illinois........	19	California........	6
Michigan........	10	Oregon........	3
Wisconsin........	9	Missouri........	13
Minnesota........	5
Iowa........	10	Total........	147
Kansas........	5	Republican majority........	22
Nebraska........	3
Arkansas........	5
Total........	179

We have assumed 150,000 as the probable ratio of representation under the new Census; a higher would reduce the number of Electoral Votes, as a lower would increase it, but neither would materially affect the majority.

Missouri was not carried by the Democrats in 1870, but by the Schurz and Gratz Brown Republicans; but we assume that enough of these will probably go clear over to put the State against us in '71. We trust they will get sick of their strange company, and come back in season for '72.

Connecticut was carried by the Democrats in the April State Election of '68, but went Republican in the ensuing Presidential contest, as she probably will in '72.

Oregon went Democratic in 1870 by a far smaller majority than at her State Election of '68; yet, when she came to vote for President, she gave Seymour but 164 majority over Grant; while California (also Democratic in her preceding State Election) went for Grant by 514 majority. We regard both of them, with Nevada, as very doubtful for 1872.

Virginia, Indiana, and Alabama, were barely carried Democratic in '70, and may all be recovered upon the full vote always cast for President. So may North Carolina, especially if the Democracy turn Gov. Holden out of office, as they are quite likely to do.

Of the States we have placed in the Republican column, only Pennsylvania, Florida, and Arkansas, are at all questionable. Arkansas gave some 2,000 Republican majority on Congress, though we threw away two of the three Representatives in Congress by personal feuds; but the Legislature is very strongly Republican. Pennsylvania was close on the popular vote last October, but, if a fair allowance is made for the districts distracted by personal feuds, there is a Republican majority. Florida is disputed, but Republican by a close vote.

We drifted astern much further in '62 than in '70, but more than recovered our lost ground when we came to a Presidential year, when almost every legal voter comes to the front. We purpose to repeat the dose in 1782.

The periodical figures as to the Webster books are going the rounds, but they become larger and more interesting year by year. Of the Speller over 50,000,000 copies have been sold, 1,083,000 having been made last year. Dr. Webster's income of one cent a copy supported himself and family during the preparation of his dictionary. It is estimated that five are made a minute continuously. Only the Bible has exceeded it in sale. Over 30,000 sheep have offered up their skins in honor of the great lexicographer (for his dictionaries), 1,000 persons are supported by his books, ten million text books with the Webster orthography are published annually in this country, and something like 8,323 tons of paper have been used for the Speller and Dictionaries.

Some few years since, one of the clerks in a prominent banking-house in Albany, having had an intimation that it was proposed to dispense with his services, boldly entered the private office of the President and said: "Mr. President, I have made up my mind that the interests of this bank require that either you or myself should leave its service, as you are the leading owner of the bank and have a large family to support, I have concluded to leave you in your position and retire myself." The young man then "retired."

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO FEBRUARY 13.

The War not to be Renewed.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—The Prussian Cross Gazette judges from the result of the elections in France that the resumption of war need not be expected. It thinks there is scarcely a doubt that the armistice will be prolonged.

Hostilities in the East of France.

VERSAILLES, Feb. 13.—Hostilities continue in the Department of Jura and Doubs, the French refusing to accept the armistice.

The Assembly—War Loan in Paris.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Touchard has been elected to the Assembly from the Department of Haute Rhin.

Paris has been authorized to contract a loan of two hundred million francs and levy a municipal war tax.

Railway Trains Stopped.

LILLE, Feb. 13.—The Prussians have unaccountably stopped railway communication hence to Paris.

It is reported that there has been risings in the invaded districts. The rumors are not credited.

The French Assembly.

BORDEAUX, Feb. 13.—In the Assembly the rules and other internal arrangements of the Chamber of 1849, were adopted. The President received a letter from Garibaldi in which he declines a seat in the Assembly, offered him by the Departments. Favre, for himself and in the name of his colleagues of Bordeaux and Paris, resigned the power confided to them as the Government of national defense. He stated that Ministers would remain in office to maintain order until the Constitution of the new Government was adopted.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 13.—The report that Gen. Lagrange is to be removed from the superintendency of the mint, is generally credited. Parties engaged in the movements against him allege that he increased the force on taking possession of the office and soon after economized by cutting it down, removing old experienced employes and retaining his personal friends, the new appointees. The name of his successor, in event of his removal has not transpired.

A charge of murder was brought, against Murphy, the saloon keeper, who shot [illegible] last week. The latter, though supposed to be mortally wounded, the ball having passed through his lungs, is now pronounced out of danger.

Stocks this afternoon are down to zero.

A narrow gauge railroad from this city to Menlo Park, San Mateo county, to cost $1[illegible] per mile, or $270,000, is contemplated, and [illegible] the preliminary survey is already [illegible] will, if built, run along the Bay and there will be much piling and capping required. The [illegible] to accommodate travel exclusively, [illegible] quicker time than the old line.

On arrival of the steamer [illegible] San Diego, this afternoon, a [illegible] rent that Wells, Fargo & Co's agent had been robbed on board. The report originated in the fact that the office was broken into and the till burst open with a chisel and robbed of $40 or $50. When the steamer came in she laid off in the stream until the harbor police went on board and searched for the money, but without success.

From Stockton.

STOCKTON, Feb. 13.—Gen. Alexander, engineer of the Stockton canal, estimates the entire cost of the work at $111,000.

The second trial of James Gelobert, charged with the murder of his brother, commenced to-day in the 5th District Court.

CURRENT NOTES.

The New York Chamber of Commerce has placed $100,000 at the order of Minister Washburne for the purchase of supplies for the relief of sufferers in France. The Government furnishes a vessel to transport them.

The New York police feel confident that the Nathan murderer has been discovered, and cannot escape unless he destroys himself. He is an old convict and hardened villain. Only one link in the evidence is wanting, and it will soon be supplied.

The agent of the Bremen steamship line has notified the Post Office Department that a steamer carrying the mails will hereafter leave New York every week. In consequence of the war between France and Germany, this line has been running one steamer each alternate week.

General Sherman delivered a lecture a few days ago at his house in Washington, before a number of his friends on firearms, illustrated by nearly two hundred specimens, ranging in pattern from the old flint lock of three hundred years ago to the Martini Henry rifle and needle gun of to day

At a meeting held a few evenings ago in New York, convoked by Hon. Wm M. Tweed, Jr., to complete arrangements for a demonstration to the Fenian exiles, the fact that a place in the procession had been assigned to colored societies that desired to participate in the affair, was announced. John Brown's soul is certainly marching on.

It appears from a pamphlet just issued by the financial agents, that the earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad, since the main line was put in operation, were over $18,000,000, and that of this sum $10,000,000 were net earnings over expenses of operating the road. When these expenses had all been paid, and the interest on the bonded debt, there was still a surplus of $6,000,000.

A Washington dispatch of February 3d, says: A horrible assault on two defenceless women, and the murder of one of them, was perpetrated in De Kalb county. John Bresswood forced his way into the residence of James Billings, who was absent, and attempted to outrage the person of his daughter, a girl of thirteen. The girl and her mother made a desperate resistance, and Bresswood, seizing an ax, killed Mrs. Billings and seriously wounded the daughter.

Bismarck is what Shakespeare would term a fellow of infinite jest. After conducting to a successful termination the negotiations for the capitulation of Paris, the Prussian Prime Minister walked into the office of his chief aid, General Bourdorff, and began to whistle a Prussian air which the trumpeter sounds at bear hunt when the beast is down and settled. When he had finished he walked out without having spoken a word. It was understood, however, that his hunt was over, that his prey was down and settled.

It appears from the census returns for 1870 that in 503 counties of Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, designated as the old slave breeding States, the colored population was 1,370,473, or near 7,000 more than in 1860. There were gains in per centage only in North Carolina and Tennessee. In Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas, designated as the old slave consuming States, in 417 counties, the colored population in 1870 was 1,775,402, or 96,562 more than in 1860. There were losses in per centage in Louisiana, South Carolina and Texas.

A cable dispatch from London says it is reliably stated in officially informed circles in that city that should the present anarchy which exists in France in relation to the elections and really important matters, which has been further strengthened by unusually bitter controversy and struggles for supreme authority, which has arisen between the Paris government and the delegation at Bordeaux, still continue to dominate, it is the ultimate intention of Germany to organize a Provisional Government for France, with the consent of England, Russia and Austria. It is probable that this subject may prove a prominent feature in discussion when the next meeting of the Conference takes place in London.

The Statesman thinks that Oregon ought to be divided by the line of the Cascade mountains.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON CITY.

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., Jan. 30, 1871.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The Senate bill for the relief of Lieutenant James A. Waymire, of Salem, Oregon, has been reported against by the Committee on Claims of the Senate. This is equivalent to rejection.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

A bill creating a Territorial government for the District of Columbia has passed both Houses, and the disagreements of the two Houses are now before a committee of conference. They will make a favorable report in a few days, and it will probably pass both Houses before the 4th of March.

OKAHAMA.

This is to be the name of the Indian territory west of Arkansas.

San Francisco Politics

The San Francisco correspondent of the Yolo Democrat, a Democratic organ, writes as follows, under date of January 30.

THE GERMAN VOTE.

Nor, I am sorry to say is there any mistaking the political feelings of the Germans just now. Out of sheer antipathy to the [illegible] their determination to vote the Republican ticket in future got a long start at the beginning of the war, but was cooling down considerably when the Examiner must need [illegible] it into a flame again by one of its characteristic, articles denouncing their process [illegible] course taken [illegible] Republican [illegible] who have [illegible] and will [illegible] lager beer [illegible] use of ignoring facts, even if they [illegible] pleasant, and Democratic politicians [illegible] will make up their minds to a [illegible] portion of the German Democratic vote [illegible] next election.

POLITICAL MOVEMENTS.

While there is a deal of political gossip there is really not much of it which has sufficient basis to be worth repeating. Peter Donahue is definitely in the field, though he is not as yet responding largely to the [illegible] who are making a dead set at him, but it is supposed that when the time for business arrives, provided that Peter sees there is any show, his Adjutant, Jimmy O'Neil, will open two or three bags of money on one of the corners of Montgomery street. Dr. Bowie, Philip Roach and all the other San Francisco candidates seem also to be "laying back for developments." Frank McCoppin says he is not a candidate for anything, and all he wants is to be let alone; but people will insist on naming him as a candidate, now for Governor and now for Lieutenant Governor. Findley of Nevada has been down here, but I don't think he found things particularly to his liking. The fight just now in this city is

ALL AGAINST HAIGHT,

And a hard fight it is. Money is being already placed to beat him, and his enemies say that if necessary, one or even two hundred thousand dollars will be used in San Francisco to send to the Convention delegates pledged against him. The opposition, however, has not yet been united on any one man, and as far as can be judged Johnson stock is somewhat drooping, though he seems yet to lead the opposition candidates. Creed Haymond, by the by, is in the field for Supreme Judge, and Montgomery, of Stockton, for Attorney General seems to have a great many friends. But alas, with us of San Francisco, man's most effective friend is the eagle bird with the thunderbolts in his paws, and "Twenty D" underneath him.

Judging from the concluding portion of the correspondent's letter, the integrity of the San Francisco Democracy is not beyond question or price.

That was a comical story told on New York city at one time, when it was draped for a departed citizen. Mid the emblems of mourning over a large drygoods house, was entwined the sentiment, "In God we trust," which, taken in connection with the old sign, "Terms Cash," immediately under it, produced a most exhilerating effect on the reader But Frankfort, Indiana, has done better still in the way of preposterous collocation At a recent lecture out there the tickets read—"Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God. Admit one."

WAR MISCELLANY.

The number of French prisoners of war in Germany on the 1st of January was 11,160 officers and 333,885 men.

The ladies of Munich have resolved to present a laurel wreath to the Emperor William and to erect a statute of General Von Moltke.

European statesman and journals say that France cannot pay the enormous sum the enemy demands for war expenses without national ruin, and that civilization will not sustain Bismarck in his extravagant demands on an exhausted country.

A dispatch from Montmedy, Jan. 25th, reports that an accidental collision took place the day previous between the trains carrying German re[illegible] and [illegible] carrying French [illegible] took place [illegible] of the prisoners were killed [illegible]

[illegible] CONCERNING THE [illegible]

[illegible] President sent the following [illegible]

[illegible] Representatives — [illegible] copy of the [illegible] tribes [illegible] December last which resulted in the adoption of a declaration of rights and constitution for their government, together with a copy of the report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and the views of the Secretary of the Interior thereon. It would seem highly desirable that the civilized Indians of the country should be encouraged in establishing for themselves forms of [illegible] with the [illegible] of the United States and with [illegible] lying [illegible] the views [illegible] Secretary of the Interior, [illegible] to receive the [illegible] as now [illegible] form of government [illegible] Congress should have the power of approving and disapproving all legislative action of the Territory and the Executive [illegible] with the advice and consent of the Senate have power to appoint the Governor and judicial officers and some other of the territory.

This is the first indication of the aborigines [illegible] to adopt [illegible] form of Government, and it is highly desirable that they become self-sustaining, self-relying, Christianized and civilized. If successful in their first attempt at territorial government we may hope for a [illegible] Indians [illegible] the new [illegible] as close [illegible] to their wishes as is consistent [illegible] to limit the appointment of [illegible] officers appointed [illegible] citizens of the Territory [illegible] were made to this rule [illegible] recommend that it should be limited [illegible] judiciary.

The Narrow Gauge Wins.

[From the San [illegible] Bulletin.]

Some years [illegible] was broached that the broad gauge [illegible] possessed so many advantages that it would finally supercede all the narrow-gauge tracks in the country. The standard width of the wide track was fixed at [illegible] feet and the narrow track at about four feet nine inches. The Erie Railroad adopted the broad gauge, and finally, pushed its "connections" through to St. Louis. The Ohio and Mississippi Railroad from Cincinnati to St Louis forms a link in this connection. But recently the Directors of this road decided to adopt the narrow-gauge, as being much more advantageous. All the intersecting roads were on the narrow gauge plan, and the work for transferring freight was immense.

It will be recollected, that when the question of establishing the grade of the Pacific Railroads was referred to President Lincoln he decided in favor of the narrow-gauge. His judgment has been vindicated by more recent experience. The broad gauge road may be the most comfortable for passenger transit, but the other advantages, among which are economy of operation, are now so great in favor of the narrow-gauge, that the question may now be considered as settled

We have yet to try by a series of careful experiments the theoretical value of extreme narrow gauges of two and a half feet, with light rolling stock on short reaches in valleys, and when the cost of the larger road would prohibit its construction. If these railroads posses the advantage which have been claimed for them, it will not be long before they will be in operation in this State

A young man at La Crosse, Wis., looked through the keyhole of a girl's bedroom, and ever since the doctors have been trying to get a knitting needle out of the place where his eye used to be. So says the Chicago Tribune.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB 15 1871

A Magazine Article Overhauled.

The leading magazines of the country are supposed to be representatives of a somewhat higher literature than the daily press, that is, we look in the magazines for fuller and profounder discussions of social topics, wrought out with more care and with evidences of deeper thought, than we can reasonably expect to find in the hurried and necessarily brief dissertations that the daily papers afford Absurdity and bosh in the serious discussion of a subject are therefore scarcely tolerable in a magazine of high pretensions

It is with a manifest feeling of this kind that a writer in the San Francisco Bulletin takes the Overland Monthly severely to task for an article that appeared in its February number, upon the "labor question" on the Pacific coast The writer in the Overland starts out with the assertion that "the condition of the laborer in California,"—the other Pacific States are included by implication,—"is fraught with danger to the State and prognostic of anything but happiness or prosperity to himself," and it is added that this assumed fact "is well worthy of the attention of statesmen and philanthropists" To this the Bulletin's reviewer replies by pointing to the fact that in San Francisco alone the Savings Banks contain over $30,000 000 coin deposited almost wholly by working people, and that similar Banks are being established everywhere in the interior and are uniformly successful A single great [illegible] like [illegible] it is urged is sufficient to re[illegible] with which the magazine article [illegible] if the term 'laborer' is to be [illegible] its general signification " It [illegible] however that there is a class [illegible] prosperous, and the reviewer [illegible] of that class which is well [illegible] producing [illegible] columns since it is [illegible] present [illegible] of a considerable [illegible] over whose "hard [illegible] piteously during a [illegible] immediately preceding [illegible] We quote

"[illegible] has alluded to, it is sufficient [illegible] given of them [illegible] desirable and unprofitable [illegible] healthy life of the agriculturist [illegible] for useful life in the [illegible] and a nuisance in any community [illegible] settle them in the country as homesteaders or pre-emptioners would only be thrown away The excitement of city [illegible], ward meetings and par[illegible] in primary [illegible] and the deliberations of anti-Coolie and eight hour leagues are [illegible] to their existence, and they refuse to [illegible] away from where such excitements exist. The records of the labor exchange will show that the same men apply constantly month after month for employment [illegible] wholly to [illegible] their [illegible] through [illegible] and return [illegible] a few weeks to spend in the city [illegible] employment supplied them [illegible] while they last"

This [illegible] said It describes accurately [illegible] who hang around all the cities and towns [illegible] the Pacific coast They sometimes [illegible] work, but hope generally [illegible] will not find it This class is well [illegible] in Portland Some of them [illegible] mustered up energy to go down [illegible] the other day we were informed [illegible] superintendent of works in process of construction here that a number of those who on fair days are to be seen basking in the sun about that embryo town had applied to him for work, but the work he had to offer them did not suit, and they perched themselves on the warm side of piles of lumber again though not knowing and apparently [illegible] where their next meal was to come [illegible]

[illegible] article in the Overland contains this paragraph

"[illegible] most desirable to increase our population as much as possible, it is questionable whether the best way to secure that end is [illegible] the world for immigrants where so many grounds of dissatisfaction exist among a large portion of the present population"

To this the reviewer in the Bulletin rejoins

"[illegible] so many grounds of dissatisfaction among a large portion of the present population as the writer assumes, and I assert that the portion of the population that is dissatisfied with the present position but will do nothing or is naturally incapable of doing anything to improve it,—that is content always to remain mere "laborers," such as he describes, or rather employees of others, rather than labor on its own account, though noisy, because organized by political demagogues, who assume to be their mouth pieces, is really very small This class population exists in every civilized community under the sun Government and laws and customs have little or nothing to do with its existence"

These extracts are sufficient to show the [illegible] of the rejoinder in the Bulletin to the [illegible] in the Overland It requires no great penetration to see that the Overland writer has mistaken a thriftless class who hang around the towns and cities for the laboring population of the country The article in the Overland would fit better as the stump speech of a demagogue just before an election, who feels that he needs votes, than as a dissertation in a magazine that makes great literary pretensions.

Full Investigation

Rage of defamation and audacity of falsehoods have been exhausted by Democratic members of Congress and the Democratic press in a concerted but vain effort to convince the country that President Grant has been actuated by improper motives in regard to the annexation of San Domingo. It has been asserted continually that there was a job in the negotiation that he had a hand in and that certain grants of lands had been promised by the Dominican Government, conditioned on the ratification of the treaty "Sunset" Cox, a Democratic Congressman from New York city, had the audacity to make this charge in the House recently He was challenged to produce the proof but did not do it His authority for the charge was then demanded, but he refused to give it A few days afterwards Mr. Orth arose in the House and stated that he had become aware of the source from whence Cox had pretended to derive his information. Cox had the piece of news from a clerk named Davis, in the State Department, since declared who said he had copied the original treaty, and that in this treaty provision was made for certain grants of land This brought a response from Secretary Fish who showed conclusively that Davis never had the treaty in his possession, but that it was copied by another clerk This ought to set the matter at rest with regard to these charges, that really never should have been made, and would not have been, by any man who had a decent respect for himself, upon such flimsy ground as that occupied by Mr Cox It only adds another to the long list of failures to support any of the accusations against the President

In an interview with the members of the San Domingo Commission just before their departure, the President said to Prof White, one of the Commissioners "I don t wish to influence you to make a report on one side or the other Don t hesitate to expose any body and everybody whom you may find guilty of dishonest dealing.

Another Game that Ah Sin Understands

Ah Sin at the South, has proved himself a delusion and a snare It was found at the close of the war that the planters couldn t deal with the free negroes as they had dealt with slaves, and compel them to submit to anything therefore emancipation was voted a mistaken policy and a failure, and the Chinaman was sent for to take the place of the African Lamentations long, loud and doleful were raised at once all over the land by our Grasshopper Jims Governor Grovers and other statesmen who foresaw that one hundred millions of the "heathen Chinee' family were about to souse down upon us This importation of Chinese into the South was the most dangerous feature of all Well, Ah Sin went down to the plantations and began work So long as his pay was promptly forthcoming, he did well But after a time the planter began to manifest the patriarchal indifference upon the subject of payment, and to exhibit the patriarchal predilection for administering kicks and cuffs Then, though it was right in the midst of the busy season, Ah Sin would refuse to work, and thus did he compel his employer to observe his contract and pay up. And no sooner would he get his money than another peculiarity of his character displayed itself He would no longer believe in or trust a man who had attempted to wrong him, nor would he work for him again upon any terms, but would sling his traps upon a pole and start for other scenes He had demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of the old fashioned, easy going planters that he is not and cannot be made a slave, and that he will not be cheated or swindled out of his wages, but that, on the contrary, he is entirely able to take care of himself And having demonstrated all this, the Chinese speculation has lost its attractions, and farmers and contractors are now denouncing the Chinamen as an unfaithful laborer "Which is why we remark that Ah Sin is a delusion, and that as a plantation hand he is a total failure

It will be remembered that during the rebellion, when, in view of possibilities of disturbance, there was positive need of maintaining some sort of military organization in the State, the Democrats opposed the formation of militia companies, sneered at the idea of forming them, expressed their disgust at seeing them on parade, and in every possible way manifested their disapproval of the system But now, when there is no real utility in it they are taking a wonderful interest in the matter. The Governor is issuing commissions to Generals, Colonels, etc., with a looseness, and preparations are making as if we were about to "open the purple testament of bleeding war " Herodotus tells us of a small infantry, probably about the size of Gulliver s Lilliputians, that was warred on by cranes We can t guess what the occasion is for all this warlike preparation, unless the war with the cranes is to be renewed and our small infantry is to take the offensive.

A correspondent writes from Douglas county Democrats don't like the exposure of the fraudulent assessment in this county It is in the south half of the county People in the northern part of the county, comprising that part known as Umpqua county before it was annexed to Douglas, are, with a few exceptions, assessed at double what they were in 1860 In old Douglas county there are four towns, and if they have grown as represented they would make more than the difference in the assessment Take the case of Oakland In 1860 that town had two stores, one hotel, one drinking saloon, one blacksmith shop, one wagon maker and one harness maker I think there were not more than two dwellings in the place at that time, In Oakland there are now four dry goods stores, two drug stores one hardware store, one harness maker, three drinking saloons, two hotels, three livery stables, two butcher shops, two wagon shops, one boot and shoe shop and many dwellings The growth of four towns like Oakland, with corresponding improvements throughout the county, shows that there is something "rotten" somewhere in the assessment, when the value of property is returned at so much below what it was in 1860 It is fashionable here as doubtless it is elsewhere, to give in indebtedness Merchants say they owe money in San Francisco, and the assessor takes their word for it But that portion of Douglas which was formerly Umpqua county is not so fortunate in escaping the tax, for it is perfectly certain that it pays more than it did ten years ago

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP

A dispatch of the 7th says The President has not yet signed the bill repealing the test oath but it is quite certain that he has no intention of vetoing it The ten days allowed him in which to return it do not expire until Thursday 16 h instant It is not unlikely that he may allow it to become a law without his signature

The rumor of the recall of Gen Sickles from Madrid, for the purpose of placing him in charge of the New York Custom house, creates a good deal of interest among politicians The idea of the President is to get a man in the Custom house who will have some influence with the Republican party of New York, and can unite its various factions Sickles, it is believed, will be able to do this

At the request of Secretary Boutwell, Judge Lawrence, of Ohio has completed a bill compelling the Union Pacific Railroad Company to pay the accumulated interest on their bonds but it is ascertained that only two members of the Committee are in favor of such a course The Company now propose that the Government shall allow interest to run till their bonds mature, thirty years from the issuing of the bonds by the Government

The World's Washington correspondent telegraphs (Feb 6), that the denials that the President will soon reorganize the Cabinet have ceased and rumor is busy with the names of the new Secretary The latest more reliable rumor gives Senator Morton as the successor of Boutwell, and a distinguished Pennsylvanian as the successor of of Creswell. So far as the Attorney General is concerned, while it is settled that A Akerman is to go out, his successor had not been decided on

The reference of the Southern Pacific Railroad bill to the House Committee on Pacific Railroads by a two thirds vote, with leave to report at pleasure, is admitted to secure the passage of the bill There are various bills of this class but of less magnitude, before the House, and it is said their friends, emboldened by the success of the measure, will attempt to have them considered, but the impression prevails that not one will be acted upon until the Southern Pacific Railroad bill will be disposed of It developed greater strength than its friends claimed

A motion to suspend the rules for the purpose of taking up the bill to relieve the Kansas Central Branch of the Union Pacific Railroad from the Committee on Public Lands and place it at once on the Speaker's table was beaten in the House a few days since, by a large vote Immediately thereafter, Maynard, of Tennessee moved to suspend the rules for the purpose of taking from the Speaker's table the Transcontinental Railroad bill and referring it to the Committee on Pacific Railroad, with authority to report at any time after the 15th of the month, when the rules were suspended and the motion carried by a vote of 149 to 61. This virtually secures the passage of the bill.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Hudson River Railroad Horror.

FURTHER PARTICULARS—HARROWING DETAILS

New York dispatches of the 7th give the following particulars of the terrible accident on the Hudson River Railroad, in addition to what has already been telegraphed here

The frieght train which caused the accident consisted of about twenty five cars, most of which carried tanks of oil Before leaving Albany every car was carefully inspected by the workmen, and no defect was discovered When the train reached the wooden drawbridge over Wapenger Creek, New Hamburg a sudden shock passed through the entire train, almost throwing it from the track Upon examination it was found that the axle of the tenth car had been broken The car had then broken loose from its coupling, and careened on one side, striking against the frame work of the bridge, and lay a total wreck upon the track Almost at the same moment, and before a signal or note of warning could be raised, the express train which left this city at eight o'clock came rushing along at the rate of thirty miles an hour The engine struck the wrecked car with terrible force, setting fire to the oil, and scattering the inflammable materials and burning fragments in all directions The force of the collision instantly threw the engine over the bridge into the creek The ice, though very thick, was unable to bear the locomotive, which broke through and sank. The tender of the engine also fell into the creek, immediately behind the engine, with two baggage cars, which were instantly followed by a sleeping car full of passengers The flames from the oil tank set fire to these cars, which after striking the wreck fell over into the creek a burning mass It is said that some passengers in the burning car succeeded in leaping out in time to save themselves from death but the rest were carried over the bridge, and were either drowned or burned

The dead body of Vosburgh, the conductor of the sleeping car, was afterward found with his lower extremities burned away. As soon as the particulars of the disaster reached the city Superintendent Toucy started for the scene, and has since been engaged with a large body of men, searching for the bodies of the unfortunate passengers This morning the wreck was cleared away from the sleeping car as it lay upon the ice In one corner of the car the charred and blackened bodies were found, but were so disfigured that identification was impossible

From the appearance of the bodies it is evident that the passengers at the time of the accident had rushed in despair to the rear door, and there miserably perished Three bodies, apparently those of a mother and her two children, of which the arms yet remained, were discovered closely embracing each other as though finding egress impossible, they had resolved at least to die together Besides this car, which was the Buffalo car, there were two other sleeping cars which were also destroyed by fire , but the passengers many of whom were partly dressed, succeeded in saving their lives Many of the cars of the freight train, together with the baggage they contained, were also burned Moone, a brakesman, among the killed, was discharged from the road a month ago, and was reinstated about two weeks since, at the urgent request of his mother and neice

The explosion of the oil in the tank was heard at a great distance, and the flames from the wrecked cars and burning bridge were seen for many miles away The bridge was a wooden one, about 200 feet long, and was totally destroyed

Many persons from Poughkeepsie and New Hamburg, as soon as the news of the accident reached those places this morning, hurried to the scene and by their efforts are succeeding in giving relief to many of the passengers who were injured

The baggage car was turned into a temporary morgue, and as fast as the mutilated bodies were removed from the wreck they were transferred to the car, and a guard placed over them

Many of the oldest conductors and engineers on the Hudson river road unite in saying that the scene presented at the place of the disaster this morning, was the most terrible ever witnessed

CITY.

THE OREGON CITY LOCKS.—A correspondent takes the following sensible and practical views concerning the proposed locks at Oregon City and the navigation of the Wallamet:

"On Friday last two responsible citizens of Portland went up to Oregon City to take a view of the site of the proposed locks, with a view, as they informed me, of putting in bids for their construction. It is also understood that a party from California is preparing to bid for the contract. Bids are to be opened on the 1st of March and the locks to be completed in from two to four years. The Legislature, you know, allows the lock company to charge six bits per ton toll. Now where is the saving on freight to the shipper on the upper river? It is well known that the P. T. Company, since they built the basin, have transferred freight around the falls at a cost not to exceed 12½ cents per ton, and with the addition of more improved facilities they can do it [illegible] cents per ton, which would make a saving [illegible] per ton to the shipper as compared with [illegible] toll. Shippers of produce always prefer [illegible] rates, when the time is nearly the same [illegible] market. With the above difference in favor of the P. T. Co.'s transfer through the basin, where [illegible] prospect of a revenue to the State from [illegible] In the language of David Crockett, [illegible] It is suggested that if the locks were completed, farmers up the river could build [illegible] and run their own crops down to Portland [illegible] fall, Mississippi style, and sell boat [illegible]. But they have no toll to pay on flat-[illegible] those rivers and the chances for selling [illegible] in Portland are not quite so good as in New Orleans.

Yet in face of all these and many other discouragements, [illegible] the work will be attempted, and a large part of the magnificent tract of school lands be used up while the poor children are left to grope in ignorance. The reduction of the freight tariff at the beginning of the year by the P. T. Co. and later of taking freight by weight instead of measure on all parts of the river, is approved by all, and another evidence of the endeavor of the Company to establish the lowest living rates.

RESIGNATION OF REV. W. H. STOY.—The following resolutions were passed at the Missionary Convocation held at Oregon City last week:

This Convocation having learned that the Rev. W. H. Stoy has resigned his parish, and that this resignation is preparatory to a journey eastward,

Resolved, That we take this opportunity of expressing our earnest affection for our well-beloved brother William H. Stoy and our lively sympathy with all that affects his welfare.

Resolved, That the self forgetful hospitality of our brother has made us all his debtors, and we shall never forget the lessons of his charity.

Resolved, That the history of the Church in this missionary field will ever bear witness to his wise foresight and zeal, and that his devoted labors have by God's blessing largely contributed to its present advancement.

Resolved, That our prayers are devoutly offered for our brother's prosperity in his proposed journey and throughout the course of this life until he comes to the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour.

"JOHN W. SELLWOOD,"
Secretary.

OREGON CITY, Feb. 13, 1871.

AN EASTERN OREGON ITEM.—The Mountaineer has fed exclusively upon the "hash" furnished by the Portland dailies till it has become cloyed and begins to hunger after "m'thin'" from Eastern Oregon. We don't want the Mountaineer to [illegible], and we will devote some attention to furnishing it "clipping" of matter relating to its own [illegible] of the State. We shall begin this [illegible] work at once, and as an earnest of our [illegible], we tender the Mountaineer the following item which it can use without any labor except the manual exercise of scissoring and pasting: A note from Umatilla county informs us that a [illegible] of that county (whose name we withhold) who has drunk up in his time $20,000 worth of whisky, has joined the Good Templars.

LECTURE.—The third lecture in the Young Men's Christian Association course, was delivered last evening by Rev. Dr. Lindsley, on the subject, "Our Mother Tongue." The greater part of the lecture was devoted to showing the derivation of words or phrases in common use. In this the speaker displayed ingenuity, research and learning, rendering his lecture interesting at least, if not practically useful to the multitude. It does not always matter to an American whence the words he uses may have come, nor through how many changes, adaptations and corruptions they may have passed; but the American is always curious about such things, and so the lecturer did not fail to entertain his audience.

GERMAN BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.—A new and permanent German Benevolent Association was organized a few evenings since in this city. The purposes of the Association are, as their constitution states, to assist the sick and needy, to procure employment and give information to the newly arrived Germans, and the building of a [illegible] hospital. At their meeting last evening, at the Turn Verein Hall, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Henry Saxer; Vice President, Frank Dekum; Secretary, Dr. Schumacher; Treasurer, Chas. A. Burchardt. Trustees, Chas. F. Weigand, C. H. [illegible], and Henry Everding.

SHIPPING ITEMS.—The steamer brings news that the bark Whistler has arrived in the Columbia river from San Francisco. She will probably arrive this morning.

The Madawaska was hauled out in the stream yesterday to make room at the dock for the steamer Idaho, which is to receive most of her cargo at the railroad depot.

A Honolulu paper, in its commercial report for January 27, states that the bark Fullerton, was to sail on the following day for this port with a cargo of island produce. She may therefore be expected any day.

A CASE DEMANDING AID.—A few days since a hard working and industrious German was badly hurt by a falling limb, while felling trees on the Cowlitz section of the Northern Pacific Railroad. There being no surgeon at that place he was brought here for treatment, and he now lies in a precarious condition. He is a stranger and without [illegible]. The German Benevolent Association, at its meeting last night, resolved to take the case in hand, but as the Association's funds are as yet but small, it may become necessary for individuals to contribute toward the man's relief. The Association ought to have a little immediate pecuniary aid.

A RACE.—The rival steamers Fannie Troup and Vancouver, bound for Kalama, yesterday afternoon, swung out into the stream at the same time and started off together with a great flutter of wheels and smoke stacks belching black smoke, as if the genius of steam were exceeding wroth, impatient to burst its restraint and be at Kalama, [illegible]. The flutter, the belching aforesaid, and the tooting of whistles created quite a stir all along shore, and hundreds of people watched the boats till they went out of sight.

PORTLAND BOARD OF TRADE.—There was no quorum of the members of the Board of Trade at the Police Court room last evening, and no business was transacted. Mr. Ladd, President, Mr. Drake, Secretary, and two others, were the only members who put in an appearance. Mr. Ladd says he will attend every month while his term of office lasts, and then he will allow somebody else to run the Board. There has been no quorum of the Board together since the October meeting.

WASHINGTON GUARD'S BALL.—The eighth annual ball of the Washington Guard will take place at their armory on the evening of Tuesday, the 21st inst. The list of committees for the occasion will be found in their advertisement. The Guard always get up their annual balls with great painstaking, and always make them pleasant affairs.

MUSIC CLASSES.—The Vieuxtemps will give their first lesson to the class formed this afternoon. We understand that they have 136 pupils on their rolls. A guitar teacher is expected to be here in a few days to take charge of a class.

TO SAIL.—The propeller steamship California will sail for Puget Sound and Victoria at 4 o'clock P. M. to-day. The steamship Idaho will sail for San Francisco at 4 o'clock P. M. on Thursday, the 16th.

HEARD FROM.—On Monday we said, "To-morrow will be St. Valentine's Day—an occasion for wits, lovers and fools." We have heard from one of the latter class—he has sent us a valentine.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—"Plutarch's Morals," in five volumes, revised by Prof. W. W. Goodwin, have been received at the Portland Library.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—The equestrian drama of "The Cataract of the Ganges" was produced last evening, very gaudily as to dress and general make up, but rather indifferently as to "business" and "lines," so far, at least as several of the characters were concerned. There was a good house, and many of the incidents and pictures were encored. The same bill will be offered to night, when, if all the people of the stage are up in their parts, the piece ought to be eminently successful.

THE
OR OREGON
RHEUMATIC CURE.

HISTORY:

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principle of the Unk Weed, Eng.—Thaspium, Cordatum, Origanias, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon—Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county.

PROPERTIES, &c.:

It contains an active volatile principle extracted by Ether, and a bitter Tonic principle.

Medical Properties and Uses:

It is the most Sure and Speedy Cure for Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatic Pains of all kinds that has ever been introduced in the Materia Medica. The Unk Weed Remedy as prepared by us, in consequence of the existing bitter principle, possesses the necessary virtue of being a POWERFUL TONIC!

Promoting the Appetite and Invigorating the whole Digestive Apparatus, thus building and strengthening the system while at the same time the volatile principle, being absorbed in the blood, acts specifically on the Rheumatic Poison, removing it from the circulation and system.

There are few remedies known to the Medical profession which will remove the Rheumatic poison from the blood, but whose action is so powerful in depressing the system of the already enfeebled Rheumatic patient, that their use has to be abandoned before specific effects are obtainable. Hence the want of success in treating this prevalent, and in consequence, heretofore incurable disease. Unlike those Medicines, already known, the

"Unk Weed Remedy"

Though producing as powerful and as active effects on the blood and system in removing the Rheumatic Poison, also possesses a strong Tonic and recuperating element, which admits of its continued use even in the most delicate and debilitated. Thus we have the combination for the first time of these two necessary elements in the one remedy, which accounts for its superior and never failing curative effects in

RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATIC GOUT
AND
RHEUMATIC PAINS
Of all kinds.

Put Up in 10 oz. Bottles at $1 50 per Bottle.

DR. PIERCE'S
ALT. EXT.
GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign curative properties than were ever before combined in one medicine. [illegible] The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs and the early stages of Consumption it has astonished the medical faculty and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine. For Liver Complaint, Bilious Disorders and Habitual Constipation, it has produced [illegible] and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Fate.

BY BRET HARTE.

The sky is clouded, the rocks are bare;
The spray of the tempest is white in air;
The winds are out with the waves at play,
And I shall not tempt the sea to-day.

The trail is narrow, the wood is dim,
The panther clings to the arching limb,
And the lion's whelps are abroad at play,
And I shall not join in the chase to-day.

But the ship sailed safely over the sea,
And the hunter came from the chase in glee;
And the town that was built upon a rock
Was swallowed up in the earthquake shock.

The Danger of Lying in Bed.

BY MARK TWAIN.

[From the Galaxy of February.]

The man in the ticket office said:

"Have an accidental insurance ticket, also?"

"No," I said, after studying the matter over a little. "No, I believe not; I am going to be traveling by rail all day to-day. However, to-morrow I don't travel. Give me one for to-morrow."

The man looked puzzled. He said:

"But it is for accident insurance, and if you are going to travel by rail—"

"If I am going to travel by rail I shan't need it. Lying at home in bed is the thing I am afraid of."

I have been looking into this matter. Last year I traveled twenty thousand miles, almost entirely by rail; the year before I traveled almost twenty-five thousand miles, half by sea, and half by rail; and the year before that I traveled in the neighborhood of ten thousand miles, exclusively by rail. I suppose if I put in all the little odd journeys here and there, I may say I have traveled sixty thousand miles during the three years I have mentioned. And never an accident.

For a good while I said to myself every morning: "Now, I have escaped thus far, and so the chances are just that much increased that I may catch it this time. I will be shrewd, and buy an accident ticket." And to a dead moral certainty I drew a blank, and went to bed that night without a joint started or a bone splintered. I got tired of that sort of daily bother, and fell to buying accident tickets that were good for a month. I said to myself, "A man can't buy thirty blanks in one bundle."

But I was mistaken. There was never a prize in the lot. I could read of railway accidents every day—the newspaper atmosphere was foggy with them; but somehow they never came my way. I found I had spent a good deal of money in the accident business, and had nothing to show for it. My suspicions were aroused, and I began to hunt around for somebody that had won in this lottery. I found plenty of people who had invested, but not an individual that had ever had an accident or made a cent. I stopped buying accident tickets and went to ciphering. The result was astounding. The peril lay not in traveling, but in staying at home.

I hunted up statistics, and was amazed to find that after all the glaring newspaper headings concerning railroad disasters, less than three hundred people had really lost their lives by those disasters in the preceding twelve months. The Erie road was set down as the most murderous in the list. It had killed forty-six or twenty-six, I do not exactly remember which, but I know the number was double that of any other road. But the fact straightway suggested itself that the Erie was an immensely long road, and did more business than any other line in the country; so the double number of killed ceased to be matter of surprise.

By further figuring it appeared that between New York and Rochester the Erie ran eight passenger trains each way every day—sixteen altogether—and carried a daily average of 6,000 persons. That is about a million in six months—the population of New York city. Well, the Erie kills from thirteen to twenty-three persons out of its million in six months; and in the same time 13,000 of New York's million die in their beds! My flesh crept, my hair stood on end. "This is appalling!" I said. "The danger isn't in traveling by rail, but in trusting to those deadly beds. I will never sleep in a bed again."

I had figured on considerably less than one-half the length of the Erie road. It was plain that the entire road must transport at least eleven or twelve thousand people every day. There are many short roads running out of Boston that do fully half as much; a great many such roads. There are many roads scattered about the Union that do a prodigious passenger business. Therefore it was fair to presume that an average of 2,500 passengers a day for each road in the country would be about correct. There are 846 railway lines in our country, and 846 times 2,500 are 2,115,000. So the railways of America move more than two millions of people every day; six hundred and fifty million of people every year, without counting the Sundays. They do that, too—there is no question about it, though where they get the raw material is clear beyond the jurisdiction of my arithmetic; for I have hunted the census through and through, and I find that there are not that many people in the United States, by a matter of six hundred and ten millions at the very least. They must use some of the people over again, likely.

San Francisco is one-eighth as populous as New York; there are 60 deaths a week in the former and 500 a week in the latter—if they have luck. That is 3,000 deaths a year in San Francisco, and eight times as many in New York—say about 25,000, or 26,000. The health of the two places is the same. So we will let it stand as a fair presumption that this will hold good all over the country, and that consequently 25,000 out of every million of people we have must die every year. That amounts to one-fortieth of our total population. One million of us, then, die annually. Out of this million ten to twelve thousand are stabbed, shot, drowned, hanged, poisoned, or meet a similarly violent death in some other popular way, such as perishing by kerosene lamp and hoop skirt conflagrations, getting buried in coal mines, falling off housetops, breaking through church or lecture room floors, taking patent medicines, or committing suicide in other forms. The Erie railroad kills from twenty-three to forty-six; the other 845 railroads kill an average of one-third of a man each; and the rest of that million, amounting in the aggregate to the appalling figure of nine hundred and eighty-seven thousand six hundred and thirty-one corpses, die naturally in their beds!

You will excuse me from taking any more chances on those beds. The railroads are good enough for me.

And my advice to people is, don't stay at home any more than you can help; but when you have got to stay at home a while, buy a package of those insurance tickets and sit up nights. You cannot be too cautious.

[One can see now why I answered that ticket agent in the manner recorded at the top of this sketch.]

The moral of this composition is, that thoughtless people grumble more than is fair about railroad management in the United States. When we consider that every day and night of the year full fourteen thousand railway trains of various kinds, freighted with life and armed with death, go thundering over the land, the marvel is not that they kill three hundred human beings in a twelvemonth, but that they do not kill three hundred times three hundred!

A National Vendetta.

The Courrier des Etats-Unis, of New York, counsels present submission by France to terms of peace dictated by Germany, with a view to the renewal of the war whenever France shall feel able to cope once more with her now triumphant antagonist. It says:

"When we state that 'the armistice is the end of the war, it is our opinion and our desire,' we mean that if hard pressed by the fight, mutilated by the sword, charred by the fire, we are ready to abandon the arms, the fragments of which alone the fortune of war has left in our hands, it is because we wish to preserve in our veins enough blood to maintain life; it is that we wish to preserve respiration enough to revive us, to recover breath, to regain our strength, to await our opportunity, and then when the hour has come, to seize our enemy by the throat and avenge ourselves. That is savage. Yes. It makes civilization recoil, and retards that beautiful humanitarian theory of the abolition of war. Certainly. If we are to be barbarians, be it so. The world will point out their finger at us. What matters it? We have done enough for the prosperity of peace, for the arts, for science, for industry, for the progress of humanity. What has humanity done for us? What advantage have we derived from the disinterested services which we have rendered the civilized world? We have not even obtained barren sympathy; for there is no people which does not smile at our down-fall, and only isolated voices in charity dole out to us a few words of pity. There will be a truce, but no durable peace for generations who groan beneath their yoke. France—like those maimed, who suffer after a limb is amputated from imaginary pain in the severed members—will have no rest until its fragments be collected into original whole. So much the worse for Europe, if it trembles at our convulsions. We have no longer any bowels of compassion, no heart save for ourselves. What matters it to us, the agitation and the disturbances of others. We have had enough of chivalry, enough of generosity, enough of sacrifice and disinterestedness for others. We are egotists now, and henceforth will only dream of our scattered members, children separated from us, the flesh of our flesh violently torn away from our quivering body. All is not yet ruined, thank God. But even were all buried under lava and ashes—as the giant Enceladus, fettered beneath Ætna, would yet upheave the monsters heaped above our heads—let no one trust to that peace which it is presumed will follow. Whoever be the rulers to come—kings or people, emperors or tribunes—they will be applauded by France only on condition that they espouse its hate and its vengeance. Misfortune to him who would think of building up a Power on our ruins. It would, perhaps remain upright so long as we were too feeble to dash it down, but at the first movement of our renewed strength all would topple down and mingle in the dust. Let it be said so. France is going to have a National Assembly, which will give it a Government, and probably a Republican one. The Republican must change its device, and instead of the words 'Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite,' let it inscribe on its banner this antithesis of the Empire, 'The Republic is war.'"

Two Methods—A Contrast.

In a recent speech in Congress General Butler made the following comparison between Democratic and Republican fairness in legislative bodies:

A senator in the Indiana senate had his seat accorded to him by a formal certificate of election. He was unconvicted of bribery, untried, unindicted before any court, untried even before the Legislature, or any branch thereof; but, when he rose to vote, a senator got up and said, "I move that man's name shall not be called, because he got his election by bribery;" and then, without evidence, without any investigation, without the accused being heard, that man's name was omitted, and the senate of Indiana organized itself, in the interest of the Democratic party, by the rejection of that vote. And yet these same Democrats come here and tell us, when fraud, force, rebellion, and murder have elected a man here to this House we must bow to the certificate of election, and not even inquire into the facts! That was the condition of things here, as determined on our side, where we have a Republican majority; and that is the way a Democratic senate is organized in Indiana, among the Knights of the Golden Circle, where leading men of the Democratic party, Milligan and Bowles, just escaped hanging for treason by a legal quibble. That is the difference between here and there, between Republican fairness and Democratic fraud. I am willing to go to the country on the issue between the parties in two houses and between the two ways of organizing the houses of the Legislature.

I wish the Republican party had a little more of the idea of standing by their own men, so as to require fair investigation. I wish they would stand a little more than they do by loyal men against disloyal certificates. I wish they would stand up against frauds and violence, and encourage their friends and not their enemies. What would the gentleman from Indiana think if, when he rose in his place to vote, some gentleman on this side of the House should get up and say, "I move that the name of Mr. Voorhees be not called, because he got his election by bribery;" and then by a partisan majority we should force that proposition to a vote and compel him to sit down? Whenever that is attempted here my voice shall be heard in denunciation of any such proposition, against any such outrage. That is why I said the other day that the Indiana State senate had been organized by fraud and violence, and in defiance of their own constitution. I agree when a man has been indicted and convicted of bribery after a fair hearing, whether a Democrat or a Republican, he ought not to have his seat, but not until then; but not deprived of his right by a partisan majority, not to organize a great State on that sort of legislative trick. That is not the way to carry on a great party. That is not the way we used to carry the Democratic party before the old-line Whigs and the Know-Nothings got possession of it, who do not know how even to blow the old Democrat bellows.

THE JUTE BUG.—The Jute or Indian Flax is sold at the stores as a substitute for false hair. It is a cheap article, and the head of a beautiful woman, who has beautiful hair, the covering which God has provided for her, can be covered over and hid in braided masses of this jute until the head is monstrous, bearing no resemblance to anything on earth, above earth, or under earth. This jute is the home of a bug far worse than the acarus. On the best authority Moore's Rural New Yorker is informed of the death of a woman at Nashua, N. H., from the operations of this bug. She lost her hair, the scalp became diseased, and the skull was bored through and through by this Indian insect. Her death was terrible beyond description. Heat and perspiration are supposed to give life to these insects. In cold weather there is not much danger from them.—Farmer.

There was a deal of pith and point in the comment of the African preacher on the text, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Said he—"I have known many a church to die 'cause it din't get enough, but I never knowed a church to die 'cause it gave too much. Dey don't die dat way. Bredern, has any one of you knowed a church to die 'cause it gave too much? If you do just let me know, and I'll make a pilgrimage to dat church, and I'll climb by the soft light of the moon to its moss-covered roof, and I'll stand and lift my hands to Heaven and say, 'Blessed am de dead dat die in de Lord.'"

AGENT FOR PROCURING
Bounties, Pensions, Arrears of Pay

PRIZE MONEY, PAY FOR HORSES, STEAMBOATS and other property lost and destroyed while in the service of the United States, or in Oregon or Washington Territories in 1855-6, or California Indian Wars, and for Quartermaster's Stores or Subsistence Supplies taken for the Army, Officers Extra Pay, and for the prosecution of Claims of all kinds against the United States.

Ordnance and Quartermasters' Accounts adjusted, and Certificates of Non-Indebtedness procured for discharged officers.

I also prosecute claims for Arrears of Pay and Pensions, Prize Money, Commutations of Rations while prisoners of war, Indemnity for Lost Clothing, Restoration of Suspended Pensions, Duplicate Land Warrants, Land Patents and Treasury Certificates and all other classes of Government Claims.

I will be pleased to correspond with those who are engaged or desire to engage in obtaining such claims and also other claims against the United States. I will send them all necessary forms and instructions, and keep them advised of all laws and decisions relating to claims, and my fees on such claims will be but one-half the fees charged claimants.

I refer to Members of Congress, Officers of the Government and others who have resided in Oregon or Washington during the last twenty years.

LAND DEPARTMENT
OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

Bidders to propose schedule of departures and arrivals.

NOTES.

Proposals must be to carry the mail with "celerity, certainty and security," using the terms of the law, and they must be guaranteed by two responsible persons, certified to as such by a postmaster or judge of a court of record.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation of the trip is subject to forfeiture. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained, for neglecting to take the mail from or into a post office, for suffering it to be injured, destroyed, robbed or lost, and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs or is concerned in running a coach on the route. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for disobeying the Postoffice Laws or the instructions of the Department. He may alter the schedule of departures and arrivals, and also order an increase of service by allowing therefor a pro rata increase of the contract pay. He may also curtail or discontinue the service in whole or in part, at a proportionate decrease of pay, allowing as full indemnity to the contractor one month's extra compensation on the amount of service dispensed with, and a pro rata compensation for the service retained and continued. Bids should be addressed to the "Second Assistant Postmaster General," superscribed "Proposals, State of Or.," and sent by mail.

For forms of proposal, &c., and other information, see advertisement of Sept. 30, 1869, and of this date, in pamphlet form, at the principal Postoffices.
